LONDON, UK - NOVEMBER 16TH 2018. Night Sky, the world famous augmented reality app that enables users to identify stars, planets, constellations and satellites, has won 3 2018 Lovie Awards for 'Best Use of Augmented Reality', 'Education' and 'Peoples Voice Lovie Award in Best Use of Augmented Reality'.

The Lovie Awards is the most prestigious, and the only, truly pan-European awards honouring online excellence.

Andy Weekes, Founder and CEO of iCandi Apps, the company behind Night Sky accepted the awards at BFI Southbank in London with his 7 word speech:

“Come together Earthlings, it’s now... Mars time!”

“My 7 word speech at the Lovie’s, really zooms out and looks at a greater quest for humanity and for its ultimate survival, this is something Night Sky makes people think about every night!”

He continued...

“When I originally put together the first release of Night Sky in my tiny bedroom in my parents house back in 2011, I could never have imagined the journey this app would have led me on. I made 33 apps before Night Sky simply because I enjoyed making apps. It is this drive and passion that still remain and are the core elements of iCandi Apps today.

Every single second, six people somewhere in the world launch Night Sky. It is a great honor for our entire team to be able to connect millions of people with the natural wonder of the Night Sky above, and we hope to continue to do this for many years to come.

To receive not 1, but 3 2018 Lovie Awards, reinforces our commitment and belief that we are helping to connect millions of users with the sky above, and this is why we continue to work so hard at what we do.

Follow your passion. It works!”
